

Western States and Provinces Watercraft Inspection Contacts

Aquatic invasive species, such as zebra and quagga mussels, pose a threat to the economy and natural resources of western states and provinces. Anyone who uses water – for work or play – can help stop the spread of invasive species, which can be transported by boats and trailers. States and provinces are staffing watercraft inspection stations throughout the West to ensure you Clean, Drain, Dry your boat before you launch.

Follow these simple steps:

Clean - Remove all plants, animals, and mud, and thoroughly wash everything, especially all crevices and other hidden areas.

Drain - Eliminate all water before leaving the area, including wells, ballast, and engine cooling water. Pull the drain plug!

Dry - Allow sufficient time for your boat to completely dry before launching in other waters.

Before leaving and before launching... inspect everything!

Know before you go!

If your boat has been in water with known invasive species, contact the agency in your destination state for inspection requirements. See the back of this card for contact information.
