

VIDEO RELEASE: Refugio oil spill response cleanup crews remove oil from rocks

Crews use hand tools and absorbent towels to remove oil from rocks along the shoreline on Ellwood Beach in Santa Barbara County, California, June 8, 2015. This type of oil removal can be slow and meticulous but it helps preserve sensitive environmental and cultural areas along the beach. (California Fish and Wildlife video by Steve Gonzalez)

For more information contact:

Joint Information Center

(805) 770-3682

www.refugioresponse.com

reply@refugioresponse.com