

Assigning the Adaptive Management Category Using the Decision Tree

The end result of the scientific evaluation process is a recommendation to categorize the proposed action as either ready for further research, implementation at a pilot scale, or implementation at a full scale as shown in the figure below.

DRERIP Decision Tree for Routing Actions

