Contingency Plans

Oil Spill Contingency Plan Preparers

Purpose

The goal of contingency planning is to provide information and resources necessary for a quick and efficient response to oil spills. The list below is companies that currently develop spill plans for vessels and facilities, and submit them to OSPR on behalf of the plan holder. These companies may be able to assist you in developing and submitting an oil spill contingency plan. This is not a comprehensive list nor does OSPR endorse or recommend any of these companies. Some of these companies also provide other services that may be needed in order to fulfill regulatory requirements, such as spill management or qualified individual services. Contact them directly if you require contingency planning services.
