SECTIONS 819– 819.07

Notice Date: September 19, 2016

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Department of Fish & Wildlife's, Office of Spill Prevention and Response (OSPR) will be requesting readoption of emergency regulations necessary to protect public health, safety and the environment. The readoption will ensure the immediate and ongoing implementation of protective standards for California's inland natural resources in regard to oil spills impacting surface waters. These emergency regulations were originally approved by the Office of Administrative Law (OAL) and became effective on October 12, 2015. (OAL File No. 2015-1002-05EFP.) This readoption action is being taken in accordance with Government Code sections 11346.1 and 11349.6 of the California Administrative Procedure Act. These regulations will be submitted to OAL after September 26, 2016.

DILIGENT ADOPTION OF PERMANENT REGULATIONS

As required for readoption of emergency regulations, the OSPR has made substantial progress and is proceeding with diligence to comply with Government Code section 11346.1, subdivision (e). (Cal. Code Regs., title 1, section 52(b)(1).) The following actions demonstrate OSPR's progress toward the adoption of permanent regulations:

Since the emergency regulations were enacted in September 2015, OSPR has engaged in the following:

- In November 2015 OSPR held a workshop in Bakersfield to seek comment regarding the emergency regulations.
- In May 2016 OSPR held two workshops, one in Playa Del Rey and one in Bakersfield, to seek comments on a draft of the proposed permanent regulations.
- Since October 2015 staff from OSPR has met in person with industry representatives several times, at their request, to discuss the draft regulations.

- OSPR has responded to numerous requests from industry in efforts to explain the processes and procedures for compliance with the emergency regulations.
- Staff has spent much time evaluating industry's comments and concerns, and is still analyzing a few key issues for resolution in the draft permanent language.
- The fiscal and economic impact assessments are close to complete.
- The text of the regulations that will be submitted for formal comment and approval is very close to being complete. The Initial Statement of Reasons is concurrently being drafted.
- The OSRO program has received numerous applications requesting a inland terrestrial rating and in some cases both terrestrial and on-water ratings.
- The OSRO coordinator continues to educate and instruct prospective OSRO applicants on the rating process and other questions such as related fees and timeframes.
- Even out-of-state applicants are inquiring about the possibility of becoming an OSPR rated OSRO. Those calls are becoming more frequent.

The text of the proposed emergency regulations and the Finding of Emergency are enclosed. These documents are also available for review on OSPR's website at: <https://www.wildlife.ca.gov/OSPR/Legal/Proposed-Regulations>

A readoption of the emergency regulations will ensure that oil spill preparedness and response standards necessary to protect against a present threat to public health, safety and the environment, remain in effect while OSPR works to complete the regular rulemaking process for permanent regulations.

As required for readoption of emergency regulations (Cal. Code Regs., title 1, section 52(b)(2)), there have been no material changes in emergency circumstances since the original emergency adoption of these regulations.
