Timberland Bookmark Disclaimer

The bookmarks and additional resources provide lists of frequently used data sets as identified by CDFW staff. They are not intended to act as a complete list of all available data resources.

The bookmarks are intended to enable access to and discovery of Timberland-related data layers in the BIOS Viewer. Due to the quantity of timberland-related layers, only a subset of frequently used layers have been included. See Additional Data Resources for a list of timberland-related BIOS layers that were omitted in the interest of space. Users are also welcome and encouraged to search for additional data by doing a keyword search in the "Add Data: BIOS" search bar in the BIOS Viewer.

Users are encouraged to review the metadata for each layer used to assess how current and how complete each dataset is.

*You can view a summary of the metadata for a layer by clicking on the metadata button to the right of the layer name. The metadata displays in a small window on the right side of the viewer. The metadata summary displays the abstract, contact information, and a green Download data button if the dataset is available on CDFW's Ftp site. The complete metadata can be viewed by selecting the green Complete metadata button. (BIOS User Guide)