

The 2015 California Invasive Species Action Week (CISAW), June 6 - 14, is fast approaching and the schedule of events continues to grow! The Action Week was established to increase public awareness of invasive species issues and encourage the public to take action in preventing their introduction and spread. Numerous federal and state agencies and local organizations coordinate to host events and activities for public participation during the Action Week; the details of those events are provided in the 2015 Schedule of Events on the CISAW webpage, www.wildlife.ca.gov/CISAW.

We encourage you to get involved and help take action! Visit the CISAW webpage to find an event near you or for ideas on how to get involved independently. If you are interested in hosting an event during the Action Week, please submit the CISAW participant form so that we can add it to the schedule.

Don't forget about the CISAW youth art contest, "Don't be a vector! Be a protector!" Open to grades 2-12. Visit the CISAW art contest webpage for contest details and entry forms.
