

Appendix I. Example of the various stages of decomposition in shells of adult Trinity bristle snails typically found in accumulations of shells (dead snails) within saxicolous subterranean matrices of mesic conifer forest and woodland conditions.

