General Area: Northern Plumas County, private timberland

General situation and animal information: A cattle producer found a calf carcass on June 4 and suspected possible wolf depredation. The carcass was investigated by USDA Wildlife Services the same day. The carcass was in sufficient condition to allow a thorough investigation.

Physical evidence of wolf predation: No evidence of predation was found.

Evidence of wolf presence near the time of the animal(s) death/injury: There was no evidence of wolf presence near the estimated time of death.

Summary: The carcass was in sufficient condition to permit a thorough investigation, and there was no evidence of depredation. Examination of the lungs determined the calf had pneumonia.
