3. COMMITTEE ASSIGNMENTS*Today's ItemInformation Action

Consider and make assignments for Commission's Marine Resources Committee, Tribal Committee, and Wildlife Resources Committee.

Summary of Previous/Future Actions

- Committee assignments made Feb 16-17, 2022
- Today's assignment of committee co-chairs Feb 8-9, 2023

Background

The Commission has three standing committees authorized in statute: Marine Resources Committee, Tribal Committee, and Wildlife Resources Committee. No more than two commissioners may serve on each committee, and there are no limits to how long a commissioner may serve on a particular committee. Each committee meets three times per year. Marine Resources Committee is charged with providing recommendations to the Commission regarding marine issues directed to it by the Commission; Wildlife Resources Committee is similarly charged related to terrestrial and inland fisheries issues; and Tribal Committee provides recommendations to the Commission relative to matters associated with California's Native American tribes and tribal communities.

Committee assignments are generally identified at the beginning of each year or when changes in the composition of the Commission warrant. Current assignments were made in February 2022:

- Marine Resources Committee: Samantha Murray and Eric Sklar
- Tribal Committee: Jacque Hostler-Carmesin (other commissioner rotate participation as "visiting" commissioners)
- Wildlife Resources Committee: Erika Zavaleta

At this meeting, the Commission will consider and potentially approve any changes to committee assignments for 2023.
