Environmental Permit Information Management System (EPIMS) Update

What's Happening?
Please be advised the Environmental Permit Information Management System (EPIMS) will undergo a system upgrade in 2024.

How does this affect me?
Though little impact is anticipated to you or your organization, this will include a significant upgrade, which will substantially change the appearance you have come to expect.

Notable improvements include:

- A modern, fresh new look to the platform that powers EPIMS.

- The old page displayed immediately after login (Main Menu) was removed and its content is now a dynamic, continuously available, side menu appended to the left of your screen.

- The new page displayed immediately after login becomes your Dashboard. All workflow requiring your attention will be loaded and accessible here.

- Various components/sub-components previously listed vertically are now displayed as tabs horizontally.

Aside from the above changes mentioned, the overall process remains relatively the same.

What do I need to do?
Please ensure you plan accordingly:

- Perform any requisite tasks prior to the onset of the upgrade – this could include submitting applications or other agreement-related activity.

Should you encounter any unforeseen issues following upgrade completion, please email your regional office for technical assistance.
