

STATE OF CALIFORNIA Wildlife Conservation Board Year in Review | 2024

WCB MISSION

WCB protects, restores, and enhances California's spectacular natural resources for wildlife and for the public's use and enjoyment, in partnership with tribes, conservation groups, government agencies, and the people of California.

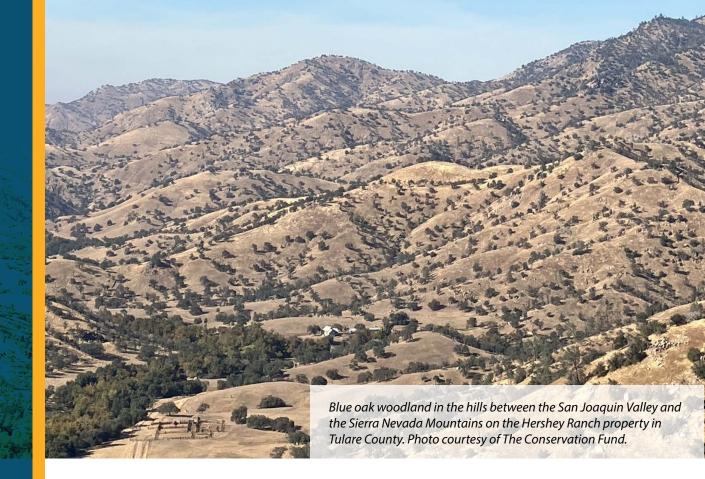

This is What We Do!

A Message from WCB's Executive Director

I am thrilled to share WCB's 2024 Year in Review, showcasing an incredible set of projects and accomplishments from the past 12 months. The work we do together, to protect California's iconic landscapes, restore habitats and increase the opportunity for all of us to enjoy the beautiful outdoors, has never been more important or relevant. I am so proud of our partnerships and our collaborations to build a resilient world for future generations. I can't wait to see what we can achieve in 2025!

BY THE NUMBERS -

WCB in 2024

WCB contributed to 120 projects for the 2024 calendar year, allocating approximately $320 million in funding including:

$93.5 million for habitat restoration and enhancement of over 5,000 acres

$162.4 million for purchase or conservation easement on 90,000 acres of land

$63.9 million for public access, project planning, and studies

2024 Native American Tribal Partnership Projects

In 2024, WCB approved funding for 23 projects working with Native American tribes. Three of these are ancestral land return projects, where tribes received WCB funding to purchase properties in their ancestral homelands. Eleven of the projects included traditional ecological knowledge in restoration design and planning, and five of the projects included tribal access to and co-management of conserved lands.

2024 Justice Community Partnerships

WCB invests in justice communities throughout the state, providing public access, renewed natural landscapes, job opportunities and climate resiliency to historically underrepresented communities.

$200 million (or 63%) of WCB funds supported work in justice communities

59 of the 120 approved projects were equity projects

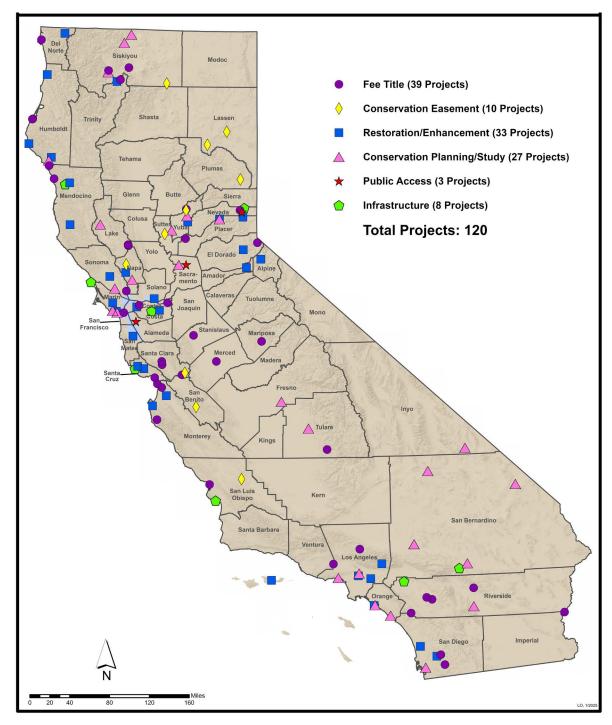

75,000 acres of land restored, acquired or improved benefiting justice communities

The Wildlife Conservation Board (WCB) is a state grant-making agency dedicated to safeguarding California's spectacular biological diversity and wild spaces for the benefit of present and future generations. WCB works in partnership with tribes, conservation organizations, and government agencies to acquire lands and design and implement habitat restoration and public access projects statewide. WCB was created by legislation in 1947. Today it administers nearly 20 programs that support projects in every corner of the state and in each one of California's terrestrial ecosystems. WCB is a key partner in advancing California's commitment to conserve 30 percent of its lands and coastal waters by 2030 (30x30).

WCB's seven-member Board consists of the President of the Fish and Game Commission, the Director of the California Department of Fish and Wildlife, the Director of the Department of Finance, and four public members, two appointed by the legislature and two by the Governor. Non-voting members include three advisors each from the State Assembly and the State Senate.
