

East Park Reservoir, Colusa County

Subject water contains a population of mixed Northern and Florida strains of largemouth bass. We do not want these fish salvaged from this water and spread around to other waters by unauthorized persons. It is our policy not to spread the Florida strain of bass in Northern California. At this time only the Stoney Creek drainage, Folsom, Rancho Seco and New Hogan reservoirs are authorized Florida bass waters.

Any local effort to rescue fish should be done through normal permit procedures so that control is maintained.
